SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge met today with President Ngo Dinh Diem in the wake of a massive student revolt smashed by armed police and troops in full battle gear.

The newly arrived American diplomat presented his credentials to Diem and the two exchanged pleasantries in a 12-minute ceremony. They put off until later hard talks on the Viet Nam crisis that flared to new heights Sunday when thousands of university students were arrested and several were injured.

As fears of an attempted coup subsided, Lodge was expected to confront Diem for the first time with U.S. views on the internal strife and determine just where the Vietnamese chief stands. Lodge arrived Thursday, the day after Diem cracked down on Buddhist opposition and placed the country under martial law.

Students Lead
University students took over from the Buddhists on Sunday the leadership of the mushrooming mass movement against the Diem regime, touching off fears of a full-scale revolt.

They converged on the University of Saigon to protest what they call the government's harsh rule, but never had a chance to demonstrate. Police hauled students off by bicycles, scooters and motorcycles, threw them into trucks and drove them away.

Rifle fire wounded two teenage girl students. One unidentified girl said police shot and killed a 17-year-old girl attempting to flee the roundup.

Waves Of Students
Government forces hauled students away by the truckload. A government spokesman said he could give no information on the number of students arrested. Another government source said they were taken to Yang Trung army camp to "undergo military training."

More than 2,000 bicycles, scooters and motorcycles still were piled up on the sidewalks around the university, giving some idea of the number of arrests. Rough guesses put the number at around 3,000, since many students ride double on scooters and motorcycles and there were many others who walked to the demonstration.

The demonstrating students were joined by some Buddhist followers who accuse the government of Diem, a Roman Catholic, of religious discrimination.

Saigon bristled with barbed wire barricades, sharply restricting movements throughout the city. Curfew was in force, and censorship prevailed.

Police cleared roads leading to Lodge's residence to prevent student demonstrations there.

Limestone Closed By First Strike

ROGERS CITY (AP)—The Michigan Limestone Co. plant remained closed today by the first strike in its 51-year history.

Members of United Mine Workers Local 14724 struck the plant Saturday night in a new contract dispute. Edward Smith, president of the local, said the main issue is wages.

Some 430 plant and quarry employees are affected by the walk-out. Smith said the strike was called after the union turned down Michigan Limestone's latest offer. Negotiations began last month.

A spokesman for the plant, a division of U.S. Steel Corp., said the firm offered 13-week vacations each five years to about half of the work force, improved insurance and hospitalization benefits, and liberalized terms on overtime pay.

Marchers To See Splendor, Slums

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will meet with 10 civil rights leaders at 5 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday, the day of the big march on Washington, the White House said today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civil rights marchers may not see it all, but this is a city reeled by power, lined with marble, vibrant with areas of beauty and blighted by contrasting areas of squalor. It is a city of great monuments and slums, of complex law and petty crime, of history and lethargy.

To the 100,000 or more civil rights marchers expected here Wednesday, Washington will be a symbol of national power, a capital where men and women petition for redress of grievance.

They will gather at the base of the soaring Washington Monument, the center of a vast complex of greenery and marble, a monument that looks east to the Capitol, north to the White House, west to the Lincoln Memorial and south to the Jefferson Memorial and the Tidal Basin rimmed with cherry trees.

They will march a few blocks down huge avenues and across parklands to the Lincoln Memorial, a temple in the style of the Parthenon of ancient Greece.

Negroes Predominate
These are the symbols of government and beauty and history that draw almost 5 million tourists to Washington each year. But Washington has other faces, too.

In the last decade, Washington has become the only major city in the nation that has more Negroes than whites. During these

Sergeant York Off Seriously Ill List

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. Alvin C. York, 75-year-old hero of World War I has been removed from the seriously ill list at Veterans' Hospital in Nashville, Tenn.

Hospital authorities said York's temperature was back to normal. He was eating better and was "more responsive to his surroundings."

York was hospitalized July 8 for treatment of bed sores.

Scholle's Suit To Get Early Action

DETROIT (AP)—U. S. District Judge Stephen Roth today said he expects within 10 days to set a hearing in the AFL-CIO court attack on legislative apportionment provisions of Michigan's new constitution.

Attorney Ted Sachs, who presented a motion for a speedy trial of the union's suit, said the court "has shown due consideration for the pressing nature of this case."

Roth took Sachs' motion under advisement and said he hoped by Sept. 5 to have established a date for a pre-trial hearing. He said he would confer with two other judges assigned to hear the suit with him as a panel.

The three-judge federal panel composed of Roth, Clifford O'Sullivan, and Fred Kaess ruled July 29 that the suit was not premature, even though the apportionment provisions under attack do not become law until Jan. 1, the effective date of the new state constitution.

The three judges also rejected motions to dismiss or delay hearing the suit.

Michigan AFL-CIO president August Scholle, who led the legal attack, contends apportionment of both houses should be based only on population. The new constitution has a formula based on 80 per cent population and 20 per cent area for filling both houses.

The suit alleges the apportionment provisions would abridge the equal protection clause of the fourteen amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Butte, Mont. (AP)—The identity of the man or men killed in an explosion of a load of stolen dynamite was unknown today in the confused aftermath of the blast which caused thousands of dollars' damage in the Butte area.

Sheriff Bill Dalling's office has given no detailed account of the incident because of confusion on certain points and official silence on others.

Dalling's deputies, staked out near the blast scene Saturday night, were moving in to make arrests when the explosion occurred. No deputies were injured seriously.

There were indications from officials—but no confirmation—that two or more men first believed to have been killed in the blast may have escaped.

Early reports from officials indicated as many as five persons could have been killed.

Human remains were so fragmented and scattered over such a large area by the blast that authorities found it difficult to determine the number of casualties.

Authorities said the trap for the thieves was arranged by William P. LaVelle Jr., operator of the LaVelle Powder Co. Officers said they were not aware that LaVelle and his brother, Thomas, were to be present for the ambush.

About four tons of dynamite were stolen from LaVelle's firm nearly a month ago.

Authorities said the men were told that payment for the explosives would be locked in a parked truck in an abandoned smelter dump where the explosion occurred.

They also were told the money would be delivered to them when the pickup was loaded with dynamite, authorities said.

Deputy Sheriff Ken Cunningham and a fellow officer were about 130 feet away and approaching three parked cars and the truck when the dynamite blew up. Both officers were cut and bruised but escaped serious injury.

Congress Helps
To make up for this, Congress appropriates a lump sum each year and hands it to the city. The city always complains it is far less than the amount that would flow in if federal property were taxable.

The marchers likely will find a hot and muggy city on Wednesday. That's usually the way of the city in late August.

Like India's New Delhi and Brazil's Brasilia, Washington is a city created as a capital, with no other reason for life. It does not have the vitality and culture of Paris or London or Rome or even Mexico City.

Deadline Nudges Senate On Rail Strike Ban Bill

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interstate Commerce Committee approved today a bill to require arbitration of the work rules dispute that threatens a nationwide railroad strike Thursday.

The bill follows closely the provisions of a measure scheduled for Senate debate.

The House group's action clears the way for speedy consideration of any measure the Senate may pass. The House could call up its own bill and then substitute the Senate bill.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With time running out, the Senate today takes up legislation calling for compulsory arbitration of the work rules dispute that threatens to touch off a nationwide rail strike early Thursday.

In advance of what may be lengthy and bitter session, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois forecast strong Republican support for the measure. Democrats appeared evenly divided on its terms, however, and the five rail brotherhoods have condemned the bill as detrimental to collective bargaining.

The carriers, while withholding comment on the legislation, proceeded to post job eliminating work rules changes to go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Thursday — a move the unions have said they will meet with an immediate strike.

Would Create Board
The bill, approved last week by the Senate Commerce Committee, would set up a seven-man board to arbitrate the two key issues—a gradual elimination of the jobs of 32,000 diesel firemen and the makeup of train crews.

A split has developed among the Democrats over treatment of the other issues, such as the wage structure.

The bill would permit the board to impose settlement of these questions if the carriers and the unions did not work out an agreement within 120 days.

Blow To Bargaining?
The committee chairman, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and seven Democratic members have attacked this provision as a blow at collective bargaining. They said they favor limiting binding arbitration to the two key issues.

While the Senate is grappling with the legislation, the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee scheduled a meeting to take up an identical resolution.

The legislators had hoped they would not be forced to act on the four-year-old dispute. But chances for a voluntary settlement by the carriers and the unions evaporated last Wednesday when negotiations under the eye of the Labor Department broke up. No sessions have been held since.

Wife Dreams Of Husband Torture

FRANKFORT, Mich. (AP)—For 101 days, Capt. Carleton W. Voltz of the U.S. Army has been imprisoned by North Korea Communists. His wife, Suzanne, says, "Most of the time, I try not to think about him."

"Maybe that's wrong," said Mrs. Voltz, "but if I didn't I'd go crazy."

"It's the anxiety of waking and wondering what they're doing to him. I have lots of nightmares. I think he's here, and he's not. One night I dreamed he was being tortured."

Voltz, 26, of Oak Park, Ill., and Capt. Ben W. Stutts, 30, of Florence, Ala., were captured May 17 after North Koreans shot down their helicopter. They were on a routine inspection of boundary markers along Korea's demilitarized zone.

At periodic meetings of the Joint Military Armistice Commission in Panmunjom, Korea, officials of the United Nations have requested the Reds to release the captives. Communist delegates have refused to discuss the subject since a May 17 meeting when they acknowledged that the Americans were captured.

Maj. Gen. Chang Chun-hwan, chief delegate of North Korea, charged the captives were on a spying mission. He has refused to listen to requests by Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior U.N. delegate, that Voltz and Stutts be permitted to receive letters and packages from their families.

Mrs. Voltz, 23, is living with her parents on nearby Crystal Lake.

Occasionally, said Mrs. Voltz, she gets an urge to head for Washington and "shake someone by the collar."

"I have faith it will work out, but so many things have gone wrong," she said. "We're too reserved in speaking our piece."

"Maybe there's something I don't know about. Maybe we're trying to make a trade."

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi voters choose Tuesday between two Democratic gubernatorial candidates, each of whom accuses the other of playing footsie with the national Democratic administration.

Former Gov. J. P. Coleman and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson each promised that, if elected, they would do all in their power to maintain segregation. The winner of the Democratic nomination must face the Republican nominee, Ruben Phillips, a former Democrat, in the Nov. 5 general election. Phillips, too, is a states rights and a segregationist. Also in the general election is independent Ed Bishop.

The primary polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Only 17 of the states' 1,890 precincts have voting machines. An estimated 445,000 persons will vote.

Gov. Ross Barnett, who tried to block the admission of James H. Meredith, a Negro, to the all-white University of Mississippi, is not eligible to seek re-election. He took part in the campaign.

Johnson, like Barnett, is under federal contempt charges for his part in helping the governor in trying to keep Meredith out of Ole Miss.

Johnson, 47, a Hattiesburg attorney, is making his fourth race for governor. He was defeated in 1947, 1951, and 1955. He won the lieutenant governor's spot four years ago.

Coleman, 49, also a lawyer, defeated Johnson in the 1955 runoff. He has been in the state House of Representatives since stepping down as governor.

Hope To Lift Men From Mine Tomb Tonight

BULLETIN
HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—The giant drill today reached the plug at the bottom of the escape hole for Henry Throne and David Fellin.

By JAMES V. LAMB
Associated Press Staff Writer
HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Enlargement of the escape hole for David Fellin and Henry Throne reached the point today that they could hear the giant drill cutting.

Barring delays, they will be lifted some time tonight to the surface—one at a time in a specially designed steel capsule that is almost as wide as the 18-inch hole.

Fellin, 58; Throne, 28, and Lou Bova, 42, have been trapped more than 300 feet underground for 13 days—since 9 a.m. Aug. 13. Bova has not been heard from since Tuesday. He was trapped some 25 feet from the others and separated by tons of debris.

Churning away steadily, with time out only to attach an extension bit every 30 feet, the 65-ton drilling rig passed the two-thirds mark at dawn and at 10:30 a.m. was at the 263-foot mark.

It was stopped then while rescue officials discussed the next steps.

"It'll be a slow operation from now on," said H. B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines. "But the hole is right on center."

If drilling could continue at the present pace, Charnbury said, "we would probably break through in another three hours, but I suspect it will take longer than that."

Pressed for a time on the rescue hour, Charnbury said: "We are not prepared to say the earliest they could come up."

The pace will be slowed appreciably in the final stages to forestall any possibility of a cave-in.

In Good Spirits
Fellin and Throne remained in good spirits. They could be heard talking to each other through the microphone which provides communications to the surface through the six-inch lifeline hole—and sawing wood.

"Hey, Davey, are you busy down there?" a rescuer asked. "Yeah," replied Fellin. "We're working pretty hard."

"What are you doing?" "We're putting up shoring." Fellin then was asked: "Are you getting any dust?"

"Just a little bit."

Rescuers told him it probably was sifting down the six-inch lifeline hole, or perhaps was shaken from the walls by the vibrations of the drill.

He then asked about his wife, and was told that she and Throne's wife were on top of a nearby slope, watching.

Rescuers had asked Fellin and Throne if there was room in their chamber for a third man to come down if necessary. Throne said Sunday night he thought there would be space enough.

Told To Sleep
Fellin and Throne are in a steep-sloped chamber whose upper portion is 308 feet from the surface and whose lower portion is 331 feet, through which they receive supplies via a six-inch lifeline hole. Their escape hole is at the upper end of the chamber and they are able to crawl back and forth.

At dawn, when workers told Fellin to get some sleep to be prepared for the time ahead, he quipped: "Nothing doing. I'm playing poker down here with Hank and I'm not quitting till I get even."

Fellin and Throne were told that the drill had passed the two-thirds mark and instructed to let rescue workers know if they hear anything as "we start to watch for dust."

Both the 58-year-old Fellin and the 28-year-old Throne and their relatives were optimistic this would be their last day underground.

First Throne, then Fellin will be lifted to the surface in a rolled steel capsule that resembles an artillery shell. Fellin told rescue workers. The capsule will be hoisted by a winch.

Weather Bureau Station Here To Lose Its Staff

The U.S. Weather Bureau regional office in Kansas City announced today that the Escanaba Weather Station will be changed from a first order station to second order status on Sept. 15. The station dates from May 19, 1871, one year after the National Weather Service was created.

The change means that S. E. Decker, who has been meteorologist here since June, 1951, will be offered a Weather Bureau job elsewhere or permitted to retire. He has been eligible for retirement for two years.

The Escanaba Weather Station until May was staffed by Decker as meteorologist, Tom Coen, since retired, as meteorologist aide, and by several high school boys who made weather observations at night and put them on a teletype wire. Decker and Coen made the two daytime observations at 7 a.m. and 1 p.m.

In the future observations will be made by fee paid observer personnel at the station in the post office building. These observations will be transmitted to Green Bay for transfer to Weather Bureau teletype circuits by long distance phone calls.

One weather broadcast a day will continue over the city's two radio stations, WLST and WDBC, with these broadcasts originating from the Weather Bureau office in Green Bay. Decker has been heard on local radio weather broadcasts daily since 1954. He will not be heard after Sept. 15.

The Associated Press wire weather report to the Escanaba Daily Press will be augmented to make up for loss of the local weather data.

The supplementary Airways Weather Reporting Station at the Escanaba Airport will continue to operate as at present, but under supervision of the Marquette Weather Bureau office. The Marquette office will also supervise operations of the Escanaba second order station and will assume responsibility for distribution of severe weather warnings to Schoolcraft, Delta, Iron, Menominee and Dickinson counties. The Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie will be the only first order stations remaining in the Upper Peninsula after the Escanaba change.

The Escanaba Weather Bureau office telephone will be removed. Decker, a Weather Bureau employee for 45 years said he would like to remain in Escanaba if he could find part time employment.

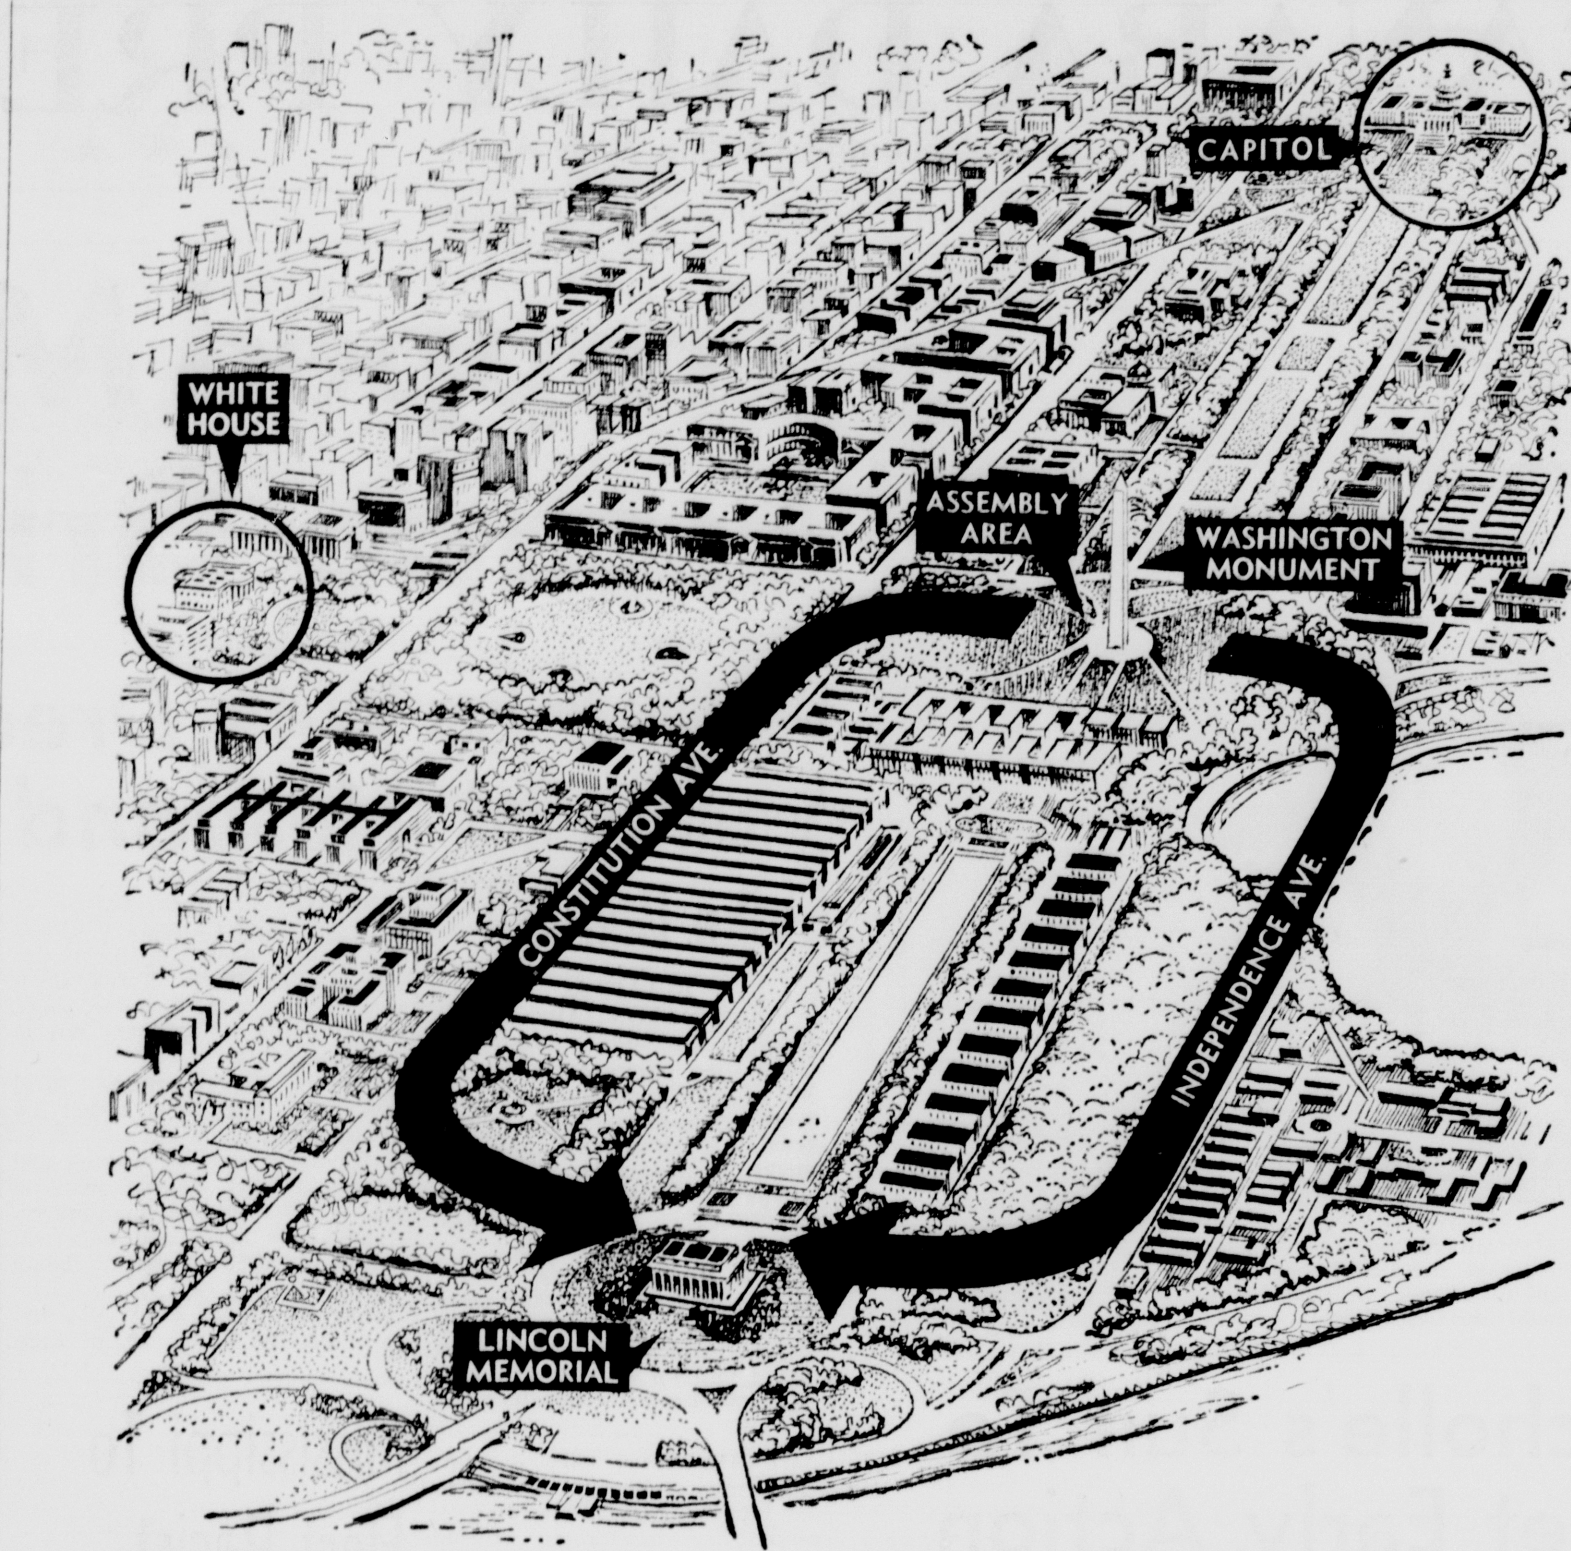

The changeover from a first order station, he said, is part of a long-term program of economy and efficiency in operation of the National Weather Service. "Vast changes in meteorology during the past several decades have resulted in greatly expanded programs in some areas and curtailment in others," said Decker. "Weather satellites orbiting the earth now provide forecasters with data from sparsely populated land areas and from the much greater sections of the world covered by the oceans. Extensive research into storms by airplane and radar probing is daily adding to the accumulated knowledge of the scientific explanation of what cause weather."

At the same time, automation has greatly reduced manual charting of weather information, as tape teletype reports of current weather are fed into data processing machines at the National Weather Center at Washington, to produce electronically drawn current weather charts at many levels above the earth's surface and project the movement of fronts and waves for periods up to 3 days ahead for the forecasters guidance. A widespread and growing facsimile network transmits these charts to many key weather stations through the most thickly populated sections of the nation.

"Escanaba has been one of the smallest cities in the 50 states to have a first order weather station. Such large cities as Terre Haute, Ind., Cedar Rapids, Iowa and Saginaw, Mich., have second order installations such as is planned for Escanaba. Ships that depended on visual flag and light warnings in the past now are served by radar and radio beacons and hourly broadcasts for forecasts and current weather data."

Suicide Attempts Increase Sharply, Doctors Report

ANN ARBOR—Suicides and attempted suicides seen in the emergency room of the University of Michigan Medical Center rose 89 per cent between 1957 and 1962, although the total number of patients seeking emergency treatment increased only 23 per cent.

Doctors Lynn W. Blunt and Richard J. Levy report that these suicides, and attempts, "present a complex and yet unmet challenge to the medical profession."

They analyzed 133 cases handled at University Hospital during the two comparison years to obtain some basic information on the problem.

Within this group they found that suicide attempts were most common among white Protestants. About half the victims were married. Many were housewives, students or unemployed.

More than 33 per cent had a history of psychiatric trouble, and nearly 20 per cent were under psychiatric treatment at the time of the act.

"Treatment does not offer a guarantee against suicide attempts," says the physicians. "Some patients will be overwhelmed by problems in spite of professional assistance."

Psychiatric diagnosis to the 133 cases showed that most of them suffered from personality disorders or psychoses, the doctors said. "These patients represent the most severe psychiatric problems and have the poorest ability to adjust to stressful life situations."

Meredith Appeals For Aid To Negroes

DETROIT (AP)—James Meredith appealed Sunday to Negroes who live in large cities to help Mississippi Negroes in their drive for equal voting rights.

Meredith, who made history a week ago as the first Negro to be graduated from the University of Mississippi, said civil rights improvements in the South depend on federal legislation and efforts in the North.

"The secret to getting the ballot for the Negro in Mississippi does not rest there. It rests with the Negro in the large metropolitan areas who will demand federal legislation," he said.

McInnes Will Be Lay Missionary

John R. MacInnes, formerly a Boy Scout executive of Marquette and Gladstone, will make his promises in Los Angeles, Calif., on Labor Day to serve as a lay missionary in Africa.

MacInnes has been training with the Lay Mission-Helpers Assn., of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles for the past year. The association sends laymen and laywomen to Roman Catholic missions in Africa and South America.

The Labor Day ceremonies will be presided over by Cardinal James Francis McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles. There will be 26 Lay Mission-Helpers in the ceremony.

Following a short visit to his family in Minneapolis, MacInnes will depart for Uganda, East Africa, where he will do group social work among the Batoro people. His brother, the Rev. George R. MacInnes, CSC, has been in Uganda since 1960.

MacInnes was formerly a district scout executive with the Hiawathaland Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Banking School Is Attended By Matt N. Smith

Matt N. Smith, Escanaba National Bank, is among 1,250 students from 41 states, Japan, Puerto Rico, and Honduras who are now attending the annual two-week residence session of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states, requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation. A total of 411 seniors will receive their diplomas at the school's 1963 graduation exercises Friday night, Aug. 30. The School of Banking is one of the many schools, short courses, and conferences sponsored annually at the University of Wisconsin as education services for all citizens.

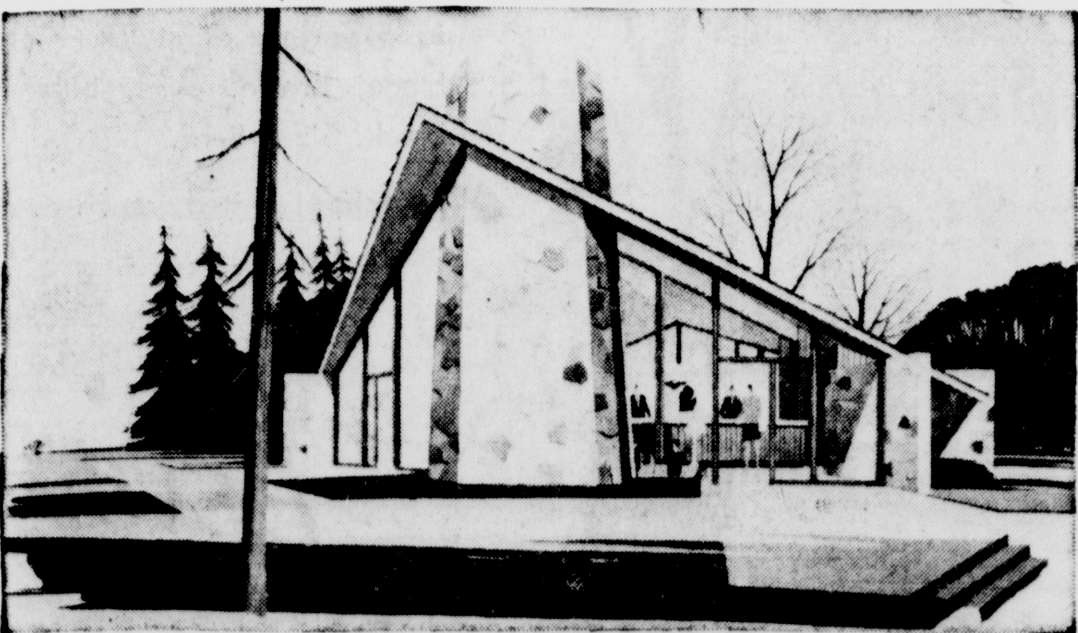

Attendance at the 1963 School of Banking enables its students at Wisconsin's State University not only to meet a large number of bankers from all over the country, but they also have the opportunity of hearing the school's distinguished lecturers, over 110 experts from all parts of the nation, who are recognized authorities in banking, economics, government, law and industrial, and agricultural and financial problems.

Temperatures To Be Near Normal Next Five Days

Temperatures will average near the season normal in Northern Michigan for the next five days, it is reported by the U.S. Weather Bureau. The normal high here is 71; the normal low 55.

Mild weather is forecast for Tuesday turning cooler on Wednesday and then warming again on Friday and Saturday. Rain-fall in showers Tuesday and Saturday will average up to one-half inch.

For Escanaba and vicinity the outlook is for increasing cloudiness tonight followed by a few showers on Tuesday.

Contracts have been awarded for Michigan's first new tourist center to be built under the Michigan State Highway Department's expanded travel information program adopted by the Michigan Legislature. The rustic-appearing building will be located in a Roadside Park on the Michigan-Wisconsin border at Ironwood. It will be one of seven tourist information centers located at major points of entry to the Wolverine State. Nearly a quarter of a million tourists received travel information from Highway Department information centers this summer.

Thousands Plan To Walk Bridge

This year's walking fad is nothing new, according to the Mackinac Bridge Authority. It's been going on at the world's longest suspension bridge each Labor Day since 1958, and last year 4,000 people made the 4 1/2 mile walk across the span.

Sept. 2 will be the sixth Labor Day that walkers have been allowed on the bridge, and former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Authority, will not be surprised if 6,000 people show up.

"The popularity of this great public stroll has surprised the Authority in the way it has grown each Labor Day since 1958 when Gov. G. Mennen Williams and a handful of people first made the walk," said Brown. "In 1959 there were 500. In 1960 there were 1,500; in 1961, 2,000; and the number doubled with 4,000 in 1962. Seventeen states and four foreign countries were represented last year."

On Labor Day morning speed-walking events over the bridge will be sanctioned by the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union. Among the competitors will be Ron Laird of Chicago, member of the U. S. Olympic Team at Rome and one of the nation's outstanding speed-walkers. Laird will be defending his 1962 championship when he covered the 4 1/2 mile bridge course in 34 minutes 3 seconds. Trophies will be awarded in men's, women's, boys' and girls' divisions.

Races for beginners in speed-walking will be sponsored by the International Walkers Association. In past years these have attracted novice racers from 12 to 80 years of age. Medals and a winner's plaque are awarded.

The 1963 general stroll, which is not a race, will begin at the south end of the bridge at 10:15 a. m. and walkers have until 12:30 to make the crossing. Two lanes will be reserved for pedestrians, the other two carrying normal auto traffic.

Certificates will be awarded all who complete the walk, and numbers on the certificates will be used for drawings of prizes worth up to one hundred dollars, donated by St. Ignace merchants.

Walkers have the option of returning to Mackinac City by bus, or by special direct boats from St. Ignace. Complete information may be obtained from the Mackinac Bridge Authority, St. Ignace.

Houghton District Plans Meeting On Redevelopment Unit

HOUGHTON — Too many communities "research themselves to death" then never take any action on the information they accumulate, a group of area businessmen, governmental and educational leaders were told here Friday afternoon.

The 17-man group was assembled in Michigan Tech's Memorial Union Ballroom to hear community planning specialist George Vilican Jr., of Vilican-Leman & Associates, Inc., of Southfield.

The fact-finding meeting was called to determine interest and opportunities in urban renewal-type programs. Vilican said some 15 federal programs are available for assistance in the planning and execution of community master plans.

Some of the agencies and programs discussed were the Housing Home Finance Agency, of which FHA is a part; Urban Renewal Administration; Plan 701 for planning assistance; ARA accelerated public works programs; a demonstration grant program and a privilege loan program of FHA.

A logical "regional" unit to undertake a renewal program in this area, said Vilican, would be one including Houghton, Hancock and Michigan Tech.

Those attending urged additional investigation and that a subsequent meeting be convened for representatives from the college, Portage Township, Houghton, Hancock and Franklin Township.

Africa's more than 200 million people are divided into thousands of tribes and speak more than 700 different languages.

Housing For Students

The opening of Delta County's first college creates new problems for Escanaba city zoning.

Application of Richard LaFave for approval by the City Planning Commission of a "dormitory" in a Class A residential zone was turned down by the Planning Commission. LaFave has the right to appeal to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

LaFave's site is only a half block from a Class C residential zone and there are non-conforming properties on both sides of the site he offered, so his plans were probably encouraged by exemptions and proximity. The Class A Residential Zone in Escanaba permits the keeping of three persons not related to the family in a residence.

The LaFave application designated a "dormitory" but the Bay de Noc Community College is not sponsoring the project and the term connotes college-owned housing. The college informed the Planning Committee that it had not received an application for its approval of the LaFave project and that it will have for its students a list of homes where room and board are available.

Escanaba has had a few student roomers over the years, but the new college creates a new situation in student housing here, as it will probably have many students who live too far from Escanaba to commute easily. The situation is one which the community should welcome and it need create no difficulties of regulation.

The city zoning regulations are liberal enough to accommodate adequate housing for collegians. There need be no easing or suspension of the city's zoning to aid the college. After all, the college is being created to serve the kind of community that demands zoning for the protection of its property values and the quality of its residential areas.

The Planning Commission noted that the college creates a new element in the community. "Certainly college students could not be considered an undesirable group and we need to make provisions in our ordinance for their housing," said Milton Embs, administrative assistant.

Escanaba should welcome this problem. It is one of growth.

Asian Federation

That a new Federation of Malaysia now exists in Southeast Asia is a healthy and hopeful sign. Any kind of solid offset to Indonesia is welcome in the free world.

It is too bad that the Borneo territory of Brunei, rich in oil, chose at the final hour to stay out of the new federation. But it may join later.

No one may pretend that in size, resources and people the Malaysian federation will prove a true match for mighty Indonesia but it can act as a brake on Indonesian President Sukarno.

Indonesia and Sukarno, together, represent one of the great failures among the emergent peoples of the postwar era.

This sprawling island nation is one of the most naturally blessed in riches of any land but it is probably one of the most mismanaged countries on the globe. Fantastic resources are inadequately developed. So bad is the situation that this lush tropical territory has had to import foodstuffs.

Sukarno has set an example as an irresponsible wastrel. And when he has not been seeking his own pleasure in other lands, he has outraged international political morality by undertaking such adventures as the campaign for seizure of West New Guinea.

Because he unconsciously plays East against West, Sukarno gained West New Guinea. The United States and other Western powers pressed the weary Dutch to yield it is once colonial land, even though it has no racial and cultural but only the thinnest administrative ties with Indonesia.

That was a victory for Sukarno's immorality in Southeast Asia. It was prime evidence that even a newly emergent nation can be "colonial" in the name of anticolonialism.

For a time Sukarno appeared ready to buck also the new federation of Malaysian peoples. But somehow or other saner counsel managed to prevail and he stopped short of action which for all practical purpose would have aligned him with the world's modern aggressors.

Malaysia is now a fact. If Brunei comes in, the federation will not be poor. It has an opportunity to help stabilize fluid conditions in Southeast Asia. Not only can it serve as balance wheel, but it can offer itself as example of how a new country can marshal its resources and people to serve its independent destiny.

The Doctor Says:

Prepare The Way Lovingly

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

If you are entering your child in the new nursery school, make sure that he is prepared for this new experience. You should not consider nursery school for the child who is under 3 years of age, or who is not well along in toilet training.

How well he reacts to being away from you depends partly on you. You should be sure to explain the reasons you are sending him away from you; including the fact that when school starts there won't be any other children left for him to play with, and that at nursery school he will find new friends and new things to do.

It is just as important to your child's development for him to learn to get along with others his own age as it is for him to learn to get along with adults. He may have overheard you talking to another adult and believe that you will be glad to be rid of him for a couple of hours every day and that you are sure he is going to make a terrible fuss.

On the other hand, if you not only tell him why you are sending him to nursery school but also give him a vivid, factual account of what to expect, he will look forward to it with a keen sense of anticipation. When the day comes for him to go, it may be wise to let him take a favorite toy with him.

This acts as a connecting link between school and home. He may want to continue to do this until

As for the effect on his health—there is, of course, the chance that he will catch a few more colds than he would if he stayed at home.

But if he has had all his immunizing injections for the more important childhood diseases, these colds won't even slow him down. They may even help him to build immunity to colds, and thus better prepare him for the exposures he is going to meet anyway when he enters first grade.

The Middle of the Road Is Sometimes Hard to Find

Edson In Washington Letters To The Press

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Senator Edward M. (Teddy)—I can do more for Massachusetts Kennedy doesn't seem to have things too well co-ordinated with his oldest brother, John, who has some kind of a job in the White House.

On the same day that Senator Kennedy was making a big pitch to allow Northeast Airlines to continue its New York-to-Florida service and also get a big government subsidy to improve its New England operations:

—President Kennedy made public a Civil Aeronautics Board report outlining a five-year schedule for reducing subsidies to airlines that couldn't pay their own way.

—And CAB also handed down its final decision to end Northeast's New York-to-Miami service, effective Oct. 14.

To give Senator Teddy credit where due, he made a big bipartisan try to save business for the New England line.

In all, 24 New England senators and representatives from both parties signed an appeal to Civil Aeronautics Board to grant Northeast a $3.8 million annual subsidy.

But what developed at a special Senate Aviation Subcommittee hearing under its chairman, Mike A. S. Monroney, D-Okla., was that the other New England senators—Aiken and Prouty of Vermont, Cotton and McIntyre of New Hampshire and Saltonstall of Massachusetts—were most interested in getting more and better airline service for their states.

They made it clear that existing service wasn't adequate.

Senator Kennedy went all out, however, in his opposition to the CAB decision and his appeal to keep Northeast operating the way it is now, with an additional subsidy.

There is a long tale of woe behind this case. It goes back to 1956 when CAB granted Northeast a five-year temporary certificate to operate the East Coast-Florida route in competition with Eastern and National Airlines. This was in the Eisenhower administration when ex-Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire was a big man in the White House.

The play at the time was that if Northeast could get this Florida route, it would operate at a profit and wouldn't need the $18 million subsidy it had been getting for New England service.

Things didn't work out that way. Florida traffic didn't increase as rapidly as CAB expected.

The result was that all three airlines began to lose money.

CAB's decision against making Northeast's Florida certification permanent was based on findings that the two other companies could give the required Florida service and operate at a profit while Northeast operated in New England as a subsidized carrier giving local service.

Northeast's reply in substance is that if it can't keep the east coast service it may have to fold completely, ending New England service and discharging 2,000 employees.

But Eastern and National have offered to hire all of Northeast's personnel not needed for New England service. And Mohawk and Allegheny airlines might be interested in expanding their operations from New York State into New England.

The situation is complicated by Howard Hughes's purchase of Northeast control. Senator Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., suggested that maybe Hughes ought to be subpoenaed by the Senate aviation subcommittee but Monroney ducked that.

This is, after all, a ticklish business, with national as well as New England interest.

CAB is a regulatory body with quasi-judicial powers. Its findings can be appealed to the courts and the Northeast case may get to the Supreme Court. But Congress has no authority to challenge or investigate CAB decisions, as Monroney pointed out.

If findings of government regulatory agencies can be opened up to Congressional pressure even indirectly, as Senator Kennedy has attempted to do by trying to make the issue one of saving a New England industry, the authority of all government boards and commissions might be destroyed.

Police Report Three Mishaps

State Police investigated three auto accidents over the past week-end, all which occurred on Saturday.

The first mishap took place at 5:15 p. m. in Wells Township on County Road C-45 when a car driven by Rockford Blixt, 21, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, went off the right side of the road and struck the guardrail.

Officers said they were told that Blixt was rounding a left-hand curve and was over the centerline when he met an oncoming car. They said he swerved back to his side of the road, but in the process went off onto the shoulder and struck the guardrail. He was ticketed for driving left of center.

At 5:30 p. m. a two-car mishap took place on Federal Forest Road 440 in Masonville Township.

State Police said that a car driven by Robert J. Gasman, 51, of 420 S. 7th St., was attempting to avoid hitting a chuck-hole in the road about a mile north of the intersection of 3rd Ave. N. was approaching.

Officers said the Gasman car became lodged in a rut in the road causing it to strike the rear of the Herro car as it passed. No tickets were issued.

John Olinger, 53, a passenger in the Gasman car, had no visible signs of injury, but complained of pain.

The third mishap occurred at 5:55 p. m. Saturday at the intersection of U.S. 2 and Main St. in Rapid River.

Officers said that a car driven by Richard Larson, 19, of Menominee, headed east on U.S. 2, was struck by a car driven by Philip Bunker, 43, of Waukesha, Wis., as it pulled out from the stop sign on Main St.

There were no injuries. Bunker was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Soo Line Asks Central Stations In Wisconsin Cities

The Soo Line today proposed to the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin a plan of centralized station agency service for the state.

Under the Soo's proposed plan, traditional station agency service would be reshaped, in the areas centering on 11 stations, Appleton, Burlington, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Ladysmith, Marshfield, Medford, Park Falls, Rhinelander, Stevens Point and Superior. Each Freight Service Center will serve Soo's customers within its own community and in several neighboring communities.

Each center will have a special telephone number which can be called, toll free, by anyone in the service territory.

The Soo's Central Agency Service proposal covers a total of 108 stations, 61 of which now have no agent and to which freight must be prepaid. The proposal would not affect 45 additional agency stations in Wisconsin.

A similar proposal covering inauguration of two Upper Peninsula freight service centers is under consideration by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Capital March Emulates Gandhi Protest Of 1930

by JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) —

The crowd is bigger, the walk shorter, but Wednesday's massive civil rights march in Washington has the same symbolic purpose as Mohandas Gandhi's unforgettable salt march to the sea in 1930. Gandhi was 61 then. With a loincloth and a cane and 78 followers he marched 241 miles to the sea in 21 days to inspire his people to protest British rule and more immediately to a British law which made it a crime for any Indian to have salt he hadn't paid tax on. By the time he reached the sea thousands of Indians had joined him.

Then on the beach he picked up some salt left by the waves. That was all. After that he withdrew. It was enough. Along India's long seacoast thousands of Indians waded into the water with pans and helped themselves to salt illegally.

It was their way of showing they were fed up. They got their freedom but not for another 17 years.

Only A Mile
The march here will cover no more than a mile between the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial but perhaps 100,000 people, white and Negro, will take part.

It will be notice in a gigantic way that Negroes are fed up with the injustice of discrimination and segregation inflicted on them through all American history. More immediately it is notice they want Congress to pass a civil rights bill.

Only a few Indians shared Gandhi's dedication to the belief that justice could be obtained by non-violent means. But millions listened when he preached it and tried to practice it, not always successfully. There were blood baths.

In this country, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a disciple of Gandhi and probably the most widely known Negro leader, has preached non-violence, too. Negroes have not always listened and sometimes responded to violence with violence.

No Single Leader
No doubt there will be more of it before discrimination is ended. Because Indians loved Gandhi so widely and because he was the symbol of their hopes, he could persuade them to end violence by threatening to fast unto death.

American Negroes have no such single leader or rally point. In fact, the Negro leadership is split although the various groups are joining forces for the march here. They will no doubt be divided again when the march is over.

The Washington march cannot be credited to the inspiration of a single individual. It has deep roots, watered for centuries by white Americans who hugged their racial prejudice and for much of American history exploited Negroes.

It has been only in the last nine years that Negroes have learned they could hasten equal treatment and the rights guaranteed them only through direct and collective action.

Court Changes Mind
The Supreme Court set equal treatment back by more than half a century when, in 1896, it ruled it was constitutional to segregate Negroes so long as they got equal treatment. This was a contradiction in itself. Segregation by its very nature meant inequality.

Yet, as early as 1917 the court began undoing what it had done in 1896. It outlawed a Louisville ordinance which established white and Negro residential districts.

Bit by bit over the following years the court banned other forms of segregation in suits brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But it wasn't until May 17, 1954, when it banned public school segregation, that the court threw out entirely the 1896 opinion by declaring that segregation was unconstitutional.

Nevertheless, the South has fought school desegregation so adamantly that today, nine years later, less than 8 per cent of Negro school children in the south go to desegregated schools. That has been a slow, painful road.

Suddenly a Negro seamstress and a few Southern Negro leaders speeded up the whole pace of desegregation, even if the schools lagged. The woman was Rosa Parks of Montgomery, Ala.

"Too Long Already"
On Dec. 1, 1955 she was arrested for refusing to move to the back of a bus. A Negro Pullman porter, E. D. Nixon, called the Rev. Mr. King that night and said "we have taken this kind of thing too long already."

He proposed that Montgomery Negroes boycott all buses. The Rev. Mr. King and others bought this idea of direct, non-violent resistance. For a year Montgomery Negroes stayed off the buses. Then, on Nov. 13, 1956 the Supreme Court ruled out bus segregation.

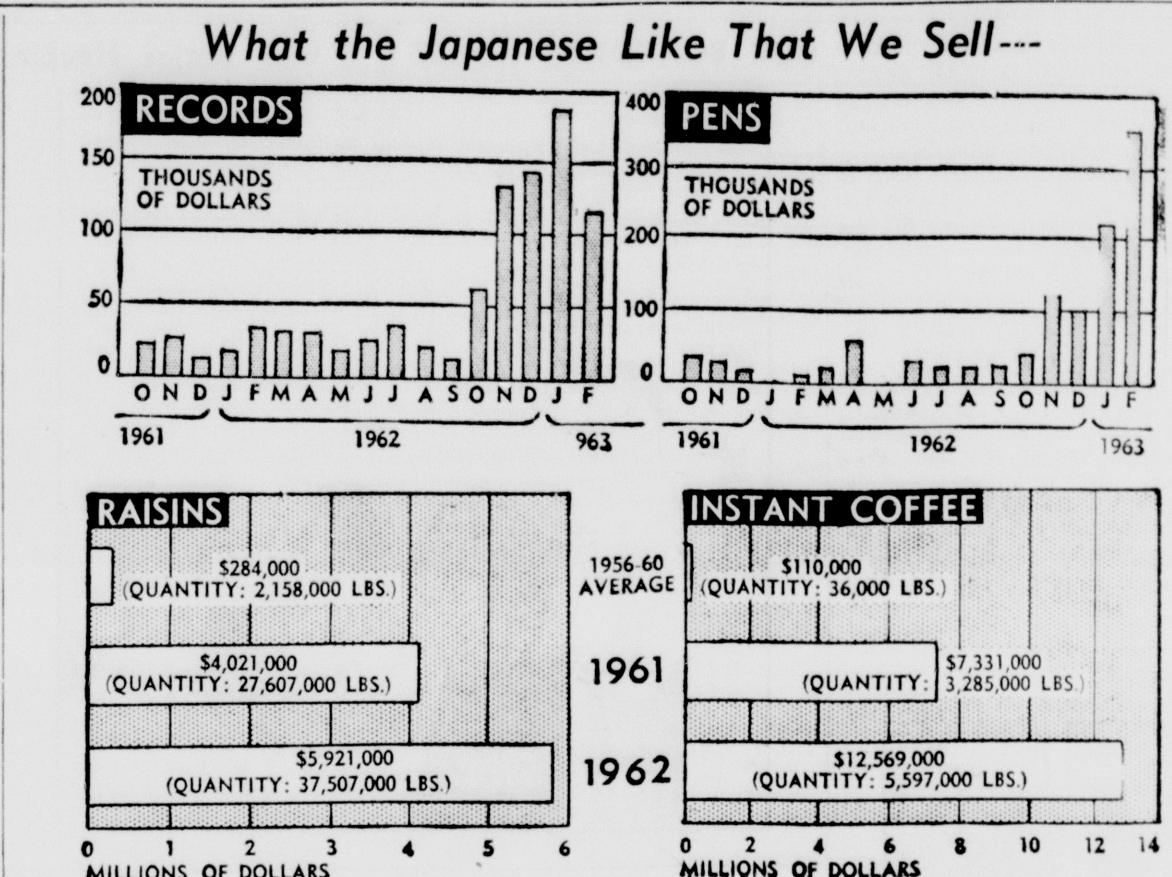

Next year nine Negro children were kept out of a Little Rock school. The federal government sent in troops.

Mrs. Parks, the nine children, the government's support, and the realization of what could be done by direct and collective action inspired the Negroes. On Feb. 1, 1960 Negroes moved in a new direction.

Civil Rights Bill
Four of them, college students, began a sit-in at a white lunch counter. Sit-ins spread through the South. So did demonstrations. In 1961 more than 1,000 whites and Negroes took part in freedom rides led by the Congress of Racial Equality.

By then Negroes had grown impatient with the NAACP which had relied so long, and successfully, on seeking progress through court action.

Negro demonstrations piled up until this year, after racial explosions in Birmingham and Jackson, Miss., President Kennedy sent Congress a stronger civil rights program than any president has offered in 100 years.

Locked in a death struggle only two decades ago, Japan and the United States are today increasingly dependent on peaceful trade. U. S.-Japan trade is now at a record $2.8 billion a year. America is Japan's best customer, while Japan is second only to Canada as a market for U. S. products. Recent lifting of import restrictions against certain American goods has led to a dramatic increase in exports from America. Four items have proved surprisingly popular with the Japanese: raisins, instant coffee, phonograph records and pens. Newscharts above detail the statistics.

Lakeshore Would Take Kolbus Family Waterfall

MUNISING — The Munising area, best known for the Pictured Rocks, is also called "The Land of Waterfalls." And Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kolbus own one of the most beautiful of them.

Until six years ago, Munising Falls was hidden, known only to a few persons.

Then the Kolbuses made it a tourist attraction. Last year 32,000 people visited it.

"The falls have been in our family for more than half a century and we consider them part of us," the Kolbuses say.

Michigan Council Of Churches Backs Washington March

Officers of the Michigan Council of Churches have endorsed the purposes and objectives of the National Church Assembly to be held in the National Capitol Aug. 28 in connection with the Washington March for jobs and freedom. The officers are Dr. Wendell C. Eassett, Council president, Dr. A.A. Banks, first vice president, and Edward L. Cushman, chairman, Division of Life and Work.

"The national bodies of our constituent denominations have endorsed this effort, and we are adding our commendation," said the endorsement. "We know of no denomination which has withheld its support."

In referring to the march, the churchmen said, "Such a witness to our conviction on equal rights for all men is helping to crystallize national sentiment on this crucial issue."

"We are glad to note that all major faiths are standing heartily back of the present struggle for equal opportunity. We are working closely with our Roman Catholic and Jewish friends to obtain full justice for all men without regard to race, creed or national background."

"We commend the leaders," the Council officers declared, "who are carrying on their activities through non-violent methods, and we endorse the general principles involved in the various constructive civil rights measures now being considered by legislative bodies on national and local levels."

national lakeshore out of the Pictured Rocks area, the government will include the falls in the park area.

The serenity and dignity of the sandstone gorge into which the 75-foot falls tumble has already attracted the attention of government planners.

It lies on the edge of the 67,000-acre proposed park site, within Munising's city limits.

Many visitors are surprised to find the 21-acre area in private ownership.

Five Korean girls spent half a day there this summer wandering about the many paths.

"In our country, the government would control it," one of them commented.

The Kolbuses recognize that the future may take away their prized possession.

Newly "Discovered"
Until six years ago there was no public indication of the falls' existence. The few vacationers who visited them followed unmarked roads and slippery, overgrown foot paths to reach them.

Joe's father acquired the falls site when he bought a piece of land overlooking Munising Bay on Lake Superior. The spot is northeast of Munising.

The gorge is part of the general Pictured Rocks formations which line the lake shore. The falls, fed by a small spring, are a rarity since a person can walk under them without getting wet.

Joseph Kolbus and his wife, Phyllis, acquired the property in 1955, saw its possibilities as a tourist attraction and began clearing paths and building foot bridges over the tiny stream and along the 100-foot sides of the gorge.

Polaris Launching News Ban Lifted
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Defense Department has lifted its 29-month-old shroud of secrecy on submarine launchings of the Polaris missile, and the Navy and newsmen are pleased.

The news blackout was imposed in March, 1961, when submarine-launched Polaris rockets were having numerous problems. Four submarines had logged 10 successes and eight failures.

With the lifting of the restriction, Friday, the Navy reported that 45 of 61 Polaris launchings by 12 submarines have been successful.

Sports Stars Top Fair Bill Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan State Fair became a sports fan's paradise today as a star-studded lineup of Detroit athletes appeared at the Fairgrounds Music Shell.

One hand were members of the Detroit Tigers, the Lions, the Pistons and the Red Wings, plus coaches and team captains from five Michigan universities.

The occasion is "Sports Day" at the 114th annual state fair.

The athletes might understandably be distracted during the sports program. More than 50 candidates competing in the "Miss Michigan State Fair" contest were to have seats of honor at the Music Shell program.

This also was beauty queens day at the fair. The young ladies seeking the state fair crown will parade before judges tonight, and ten finalists will be chosen for judging Tuesday.

Fair officials said 141,531 persons visited the State Fairgrounds yesterday. Attendance stands at 286,099, a gain of 35,000 over the first two and a half days last year.

Food contests and horse shows were judged Sunday.

Bay Fiddle was declared the grand champion quarter horse for the fourth year in a row. The stallion is owned by Jack Thompson & Sons, of Milan.

Mrs. Adelbert W. Gubert, of Inkster, won first prize for her bee products; Levi Cooley, of Bellevue, top honors in the maple syrup contest, and George Schaefer, of Allen Park, won the potato contest.

A wild prairie flower belonging to the pea family, the blue-bonnet is the state flower of Texas.

Ann Landers

Hubby Beats Her

Dear Ann Landers: Please excuse the mistakes in this letter. I have two black eyes and one of them is completely shut.

I married a man I knew only three weeks. He seemed like such a perfect gentleman I could hardly believe it when he knocked out my pivot tooth on our honeymoon.

He loses his temper over the silliest things. Like last night—he hit me because the TV broke down. He said I should "watch those things."

We've been married less than seven months and I've already spent $380 of my own money with the dentist. I've had so many bruises and shiners I've lost count. When I ordered beefsteak from the butcher yesterday he said, "To eat or for your eye?" I'm ashamed to go out in the neighborhood anymore.

Please help me, Ann, but don't tell me to leave him. I love this man. He is truly wonderful between these spells. Thanks a lot. —QUEENIE

Dear Queenie: So you love the man and you don't want me to tell you to leave him. Fine. Stay with him until he scrambles your brains and puts you in the hospital with a fractured skull.

Perhaps when your money is gone, and your credit at the bank runs out, you'll write for some advice you can use instead of telling me what not to tell you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a college graduate, 26, and have been dating a very beautiful girl since last February. Lila is 21 and she is really terrific. The only thing missing is that she refuses to express an opinion.

Last night the two of us had dinner and instead of going to a movie I suggested a long drive. I wanted to make one last effort to get her to talk about something—anything. Her contribution to four hours of conversation was as follows: "You can say that again." "Well, I'll be darned." "Isn't that the truth?" "And how!" When I asked her direct questions she replied, "I don't know how I feel about that."

Why would a girl so reluctant to express herself on any subject whatever? Please explain this mystery.—BTH WONDER

Dear Bth: Don't look now, Buddy Boy, but the girl is brainless. If she had an idea it would probably give her a headache. And if you can listen to "And how!" "You can say that again." "Well, I'll be darned!" for seven months and call the girl "terrific" you obviously do not require intellectual stimulation from your female companions.

Dear Ann Landers: Three cheers for you. You've scored again! You've given frustrated American parents across the continent the key to handling their children. In your reply to "Maple Leaf Mother" you said, "Teenagers have a truly significant way of living up to their parents' high opinion of them."

I'm a teenager who can tell you from experience that this approach really works. I used to live

My parents have always made me feel trustworthy. They just expect me to live up to their high opinion of me. And I would rather die than let them down.—TEEN 16

Dear Teen: And three cheers right back to you. And a loud hurrah for your parents, too. Letters like yours brighten my day. It's good to hear from someone who chooses the high road and discovers it leads to happiness.

Payments Abroad Creating Problem At Home For U.S.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A problem that even the experts differ in evaluating let alone solving—the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments—has been dominating much of the financial and congressional news in recent days. And it's no wonder if many ordinary citizens are stumped.

But to varying degrees the balance of payments between this country and the rest of the world is influencing:

—The cost of borrowing at the bank and the interest charges on the federal debt (paid in the long run by the citizen taxpayer);

—The amount of U.S. economic and military aid Congress will vote for other nations;

—The protection of the gold reserves that guarantee the good name of the dollar in world monetary capitals;

—The U.S. tariffs that some American industries say should be raised and those of other nations that the U.S. government is protesting because they keep American products out.

In all of these there are other factors—economic stresses, sectional goals or problems, domestic politics or international conflicts. But the stubborn balance of payments deficit plays a role in each.

Like Bank Statement

The nation's balance of payments is roughly like your monthly bank statement.

For you it's how your deposits stack up against the checks you write. For your government it's how the receipt of dollars from abroad for American exports, return on investments, repayment of loans, and so on stack up against the dollars that go abroad for imports, foreign aid, military establishments, investments in plants or securities, travel.

Since 1958 each year has seen more dollars going out of the country than came back. The deficit was a little lower last year, if still above $2 billion, but has spurred again this year. To combat this buildup in surplus dollars abroad that could be turned in for U.S. gold if foreigners get worried about the future worth of Yankee dollars, the U.S. government through its various agencies has:

—Raised the interest on short-term loans. This tends to keep investment funds at home but also raises the carrying charge on the growing federal debt as well as tending to make business borrowing more expensive—and conceivably could spill over into long-term borrowings such as mortgages and school bond issues.

Excuse For Cut

—Tried to increase the existing surplus of U.S. exports over imports. This flared into the chicken war when the European common market boosted the levy on American frozen fowl—and, on the other side of the coin, led the steel industry to protest that low American tariffs let foreign steel flood local markets while old-time American steel export markets have been lost.

—Asked a tax on the purchase by Americans of foreign securities from foreigners. This is bitterly opposed by many financial interests in hearings before congress.

And the fact that foreign aid usually approximates or exceeds the U.S. deficit in the balance of payments has been a strong talking point for its opponents.

Foreign aid is tied closely to U.S. international and defense policies. But it probably would win few popularity contests with taxpayers. So the balance of payments deficit gives Congress a good excuse for cutting it.

All of these maneuvers in recent days may have given little assurance that the basic problem of the deficit is being solved. But the dollar's short-fall in international transactions has a part just now in the goings-on in Washington and Wall Street, and perhaps even at your local bank—and could play a still larger role in months to come.

BOXING DAY

In England, the day after Christmas is known as Boxing Day, because on that day the Christmas boxes placed in churches for casual contributions are opened and the contents are distributed to those who render small services without pay.

State Struggles On Civil Rights In Housing Sales

EDITOR'S NOTE: The conflict between the individual's right to rent, buy, and live where he chooses and the landlord's right to choose his tenants and customers in an old one. Each day, Michigan finds itself facing it. Here is a discussion of recent Michigan developments in this struggle.

By KEN SINER

DETROIT (AP)—"Any person willfully interfering with such rights of any—property owner shall be punished by fine not to exceed $500 or by imprisonment not to exceed 90 days."

"To refuse to sell, rent, lease, any property or part or portion thereof because of race, color, religion or national origin or ancestry (shall be punishable) by a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment of not more than 90 days."

This second paraphrase with its familiar sound—"open occupancy" proposal facing Detroit's Common Council.

The first phrase, in the name of property owners, is the product of two long-time Detroit residents who are pushing energetically for a showdown in the conflict between minority rights and property rights.

The two are Millard Lutz, 46, a heating contractor and father of six, and Thomas Poindeexter 53, attorney and politician. Both are enrolled in the Democratic party but "don't represent the current thinking of the state, local, and certainly the national, Democratic leadership."

Vote Is Forced

Working feverishly for their new organization, the Greater Detroit Homeowners' Council, Lutz and Poindeexter have forced the issue to a vote in Detroit. They are hard at work on the same technique at the state level.

When they presented their proposed "ordinance defining rights of Detroit residents and residential property owners," it was accompanied—unlike the "open occupancy" proposal—with petitions containing enough signatures so that if the Common Council did not pass it verbatim, the issue had to go before the electorate.

The Common Council did not act, and now the issue must, by law, be on a ballot at the next city election.

The statewide effort, with a goal of 222,000 petition signatures, is backed by the Michigan Real Estate Association.

The petitions, distributed by the thousands throughout Upper and Lower Michigan, call for limiting the recently-formed Civil Rights Commission's powers.

Regarding property owners, the legislation would require the state to "recognize, respect and protect."

"The right of privacy... to choose his own friends and associates and to own, occupy and enjoy his property... according to his own dictates."

Statewide Vote

"The right to freedom from interference with his property by public authorities attempting to give special privileges to any group..."

"The right to freedom of choice of persons with whom he will negotiate or contract with reference to such property, and to accept or reject any prospective buyer or tenant for his own reasons..."

If Lutz and Poindeexter get enough signatures, the Legislature will have to choose between passing the proposal into law, word-for-word, or putting the issue to a statewide vote.

Sunday, Lutz said he had 75,000 signatures from Detroit registered voters alone, and that the first returns from outstate are expected Tuesday.

The two men say their organization, formed last Spring during their successful fight against a school millage increase in Detroit, is not a racist group.

"We only hope to convince politicians that racial politics is not good politics," said Poindeexter.

Edward Turner, president of Michigan's NAACP, told the Common Council during hearings on "open occupancy" proposal that "legislation must reach and correct the racial discrimination and segregation practices of the owner, builder, banker and real estate broker."

Poindeexter, speaking on public accommodations before the Senate Commerce Committee in Washington last month, said this: "The people of Detroit have accepted voluntary integration as outlined by Supreme Court decisions. But they firmly oppose forced integration by government decree, such as... the so-called open occupancy laws."

In these terms are the basic issues stated. The voters of Detroit, and maybe all of Michigan, will have to take sides.

It's impossible to prove your talents by shooting your critics.

TO TELEPHONE REPAIRMAN

On the same night a windstorm blew down a telephone line leading to a home in Grand Rapids, it also blew down a large birdhouse inhabited by four newborn baby squirrels and their mother.

Michigan Bell repairman Gene Bartholomew repaired the damaged telephone line. Then he noticed several neighborhood women worriedly watching the frightened mother squirrel on the roof of the grounded home while her newborn babies huddled inside.

The repairman told the women he'd be glad to put the birdhouse back up in the tree and, after a brief argument with the suspicious mother squirrel, proceeded to do the job.

The neighborhood women and the squirrel family, including the mother squirrel, were understandably grateful to our repairman. Yet what Gene Bartholomew did was just another example of the neighborliness you'll find in Michigan Bell people. They're about as friendly and cooperative as anyone you know.

New School Bus

The Board of Education of the Stephenson Consolidated Schools has received a new 60 passenger school bus. It will replace one of the old units. It is planned that only one new school bus will be purchased and placed into service each year instead of two under the previous plan. Reduced state aid for transportation has created a problem for the purchase of new school buses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Woodworth, 1326 Main Ave., Clear Lake, Iowa, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Johnston, to Stanley McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McGowan, also of Clear Lake. The future bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Bertha Legg, 318 S. 10th St., and Charles Johnston, 711 Ludington St., Escanaba.

Something For Everyone In Paris Style Shows

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — Paris fashion designers offer a wealth of trends, in beautiful fabrics and striking colors, for fall and winter.

The to-each-his-own approach, as shown in photographs released today, means there is something for everyone—from the conservative follow-fashion dresser to the nonconformist rebel. Soon the styles will be adapted to the American market — for a fraction of the Paris prices.

Muffled-Up Look

One important trend is the muffled-up look for winter, in a general antifreeze campaign the couture endorsed. Collars climb up to the eyes, bypassing chin and nose. Necklines are covered, hooded, scarved or swathed in fur or fabric stoles and high windshield collars. Topcoats are easy, roomy, square-shouldered and spell winter comfort.

The showings were the biggest fur stories in years. Included were many fur trimmings on suits for day and evening displayed by such houses as Heim, Chanel, Saint-Laurent and Griffe.

Most styles shown for day in soft mohairs and tweed plaids, checks and herringbones, also appear in evening wear in deluxe silks, velvets and brocades — among the best French manufacturers have produced.

For evening jeweled and beaded embroidery is all-important. Feathers are integrated and add a touch of fantasy. Bird plumage colors were shown for sports.

One of the season's important features is the return of sleeves.

Janet Anderson Bride Of Clifford E. Olsson

An altar banked with white and lavender gladioli and lighted tapers was the setting in the First Lutheran Church of Gladstone for the 2 p.m. double ring service which united Janet Mae Anderson and Clifford Olsson of Gladstone in marriage Saturday, Aug. 24. White satin bows marked the pews.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Anderson, 303 N. 19th St., Escanaba.

The Rev. Harry Lorenz officiated at the nuptial ceremony. Preceding the service, "O Perfect Love" was sung by the oldest Noble Swenson. He also sang "Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Carl Wedell.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a scoop neck edged in raw silk applique, seed pearls, and aurora borealis beads. A small bow nipped in the waistline at the back of the bell-shaped, full-length skirt of unpressed pleats with front applique detail. Her veil of French illusion, edged in lace, was caught to a low crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white feathered carnations and ivy, centered with a deep purple orchid.

The honor attendant and four bridesmaids wore identical gowns of lavender silk tulle, and styled tulle, bell-shaped, full-length skirts, and white lace cummerbunds edged in deep purple. They carried colorful bouquets of lavender and deep purple asters.

Mrs. Bertha Ades of Gladstone, aunt of the bridegroom, wore a pale green sheath dress of silk shantung and matching accessories. Her corsage was fashioned of rust pompons and yellow roses.

To Wisconsin Dells

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors which were decorated with white gladioli and pompons. The wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of white carnations and deep purple asters. Assisting in serving were Coreen Monson and Barbara Davy of Dearborn, pouring, Lynnette Falk of Detroit and Ann McCallum of Plymouth, Mich., punch bowl, Carolyn Boardman of East Detroit and Mrs. William Rae of Escanaba serving the cake, and Judy Aune of Escanaba, guest book.

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells, the new Mrs. Olsson was attired in a bone colored suit with matching accessories. She wore a deep orchid corsage. Upon their return, they will reside in Marquette.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba High School, and she attended Eastern Michigan University for three years, where she was affiliated with Sigma Kappa social sorority. She will complete her senior year at Northern Michigan University this fall.

Suburban Areas Seek Detroit Tax Relief Meeting

BERKLEY (AP)—The Vigilance Tax Committee, still insisting that Gov. George Romney meet with it in the Detroit metropolitan area instead of Lansing, has suggested 13 different September dates and Warren's City Hall as a meeting place.

Mayor George Kuhn of Berkley, chairman of the committee made up of suburban Detroit mayors who object to the Motor City's income tax, said a list of suggested dates was sent Romney's Lansing office.

Romney currently is in Europe on vacation, but is due back Aug. 31. The governor recently invited Kuhn's committee to meet with him in Lansing, but Kuhn complained of the Monday date, saying most city councils meet Monday nights, and also objected because the site was not within the Detroit area.

Mead Captures U.P. Class B Championship

Butler's Homer In 9th Decides Final Contest

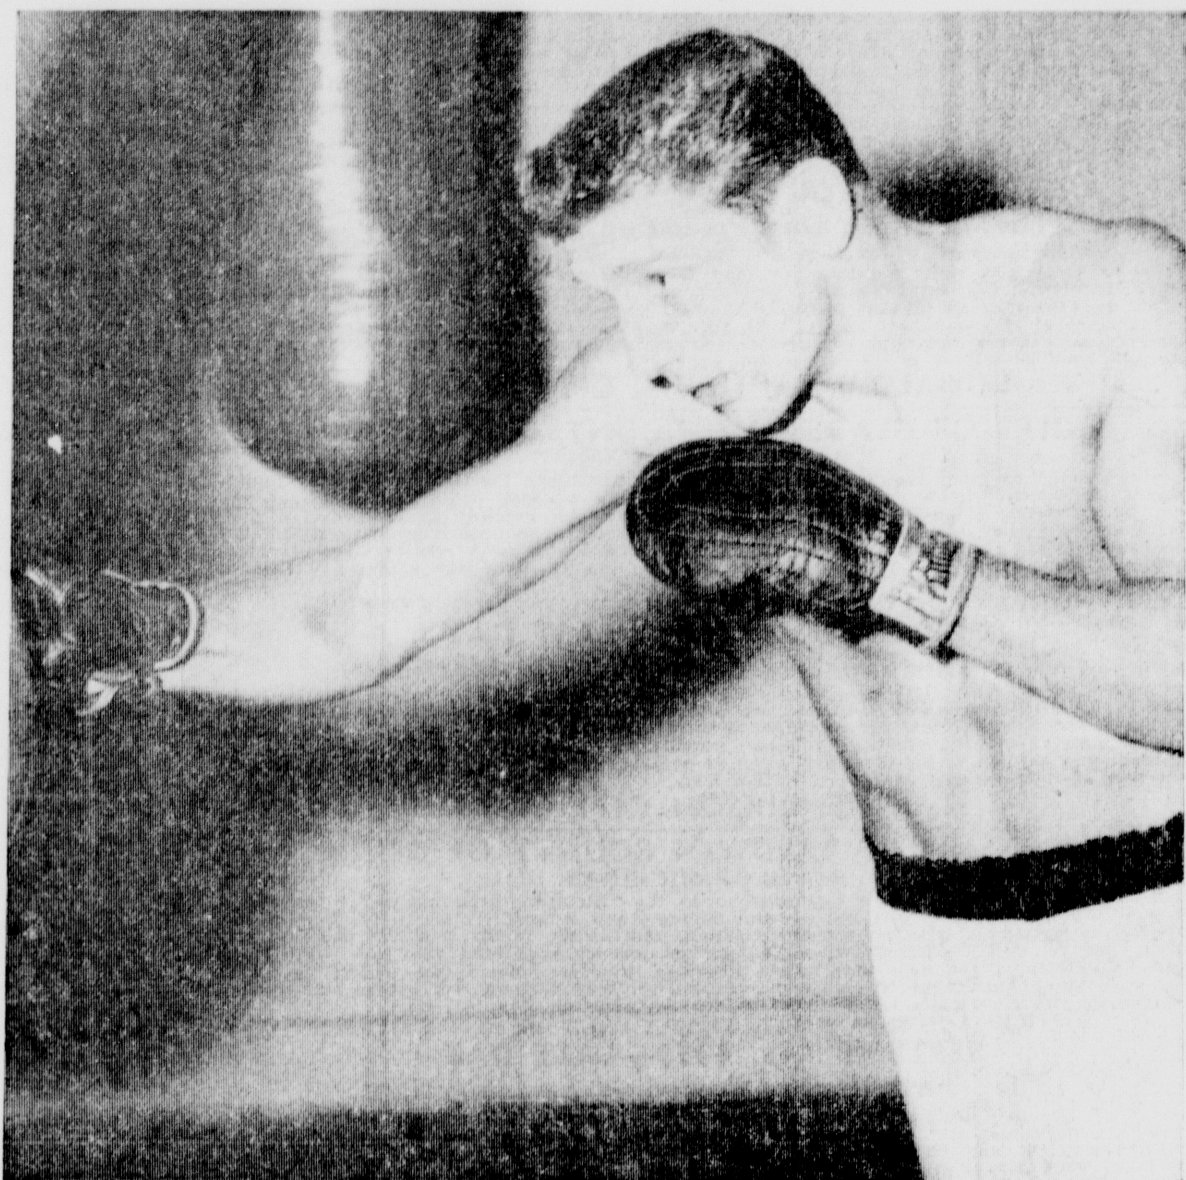

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)

Along about 11:30 Sunday night, Todd Butler belted one of Reggie Thomas' fast balls over the left center fence at Memorial Field to give Escanaba Mead the Upper Peninsula Class B softball championship.

Butler's blow came in the last of the ninth inning and provided Mead with a 2-0 victory over the Canadian Soo Redlegs.

Butler and Thomas, the Canadian Soo chucker, hooked up in a brilliant mound duel in the championship game. Butler limited the Redlegs to two hits, a single by Thomas in the third and a single by Bernie Tomie in the seventh. He struck out 10 batters. Thomas granted four hits, including a single to Norm Butler in the ninth before Todd's game-wrecker.

Mead waded through the tough 16-team, double elimination tournament without a setback as Butler threw all five games. The Escanaba American League, City Tournament and District tournament champs defeated Ishpeming Casino 4-1, Iron Mountain White Star 4-1, Escanaba Merchants 7-2, Canadian Soo 10-0 in five innings and Canadian Soo 2-0 in the finals.

Pete Bosanic, Manistique middleweight who will be fighting for the state 160 pound championship here Saturday night, Aug. 31, works a right hand to the heavy bag in drills in the Big D Boxing Club in Detroit. Bosanic tuned up for his state championship bout with undefeated Jim Davis of Detroit with an impressive first round knockout over John Blair of Akron on Aug. 19. The Manistique Mauler, a six-time Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves titlist, has won seven straight professional starts and has stopped his last four foes.

Lion Injury List Grows; Studstill Is Latest Victim

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — Doctors' reports took precedence over scouting reports today as the Detroit Lions made patchwork plans for the next-to-last pre-season game.

Injuries to flanker back Pat Studstill and line backer Carl Brettschneider cast shadows over Saturday night's 22-17 exhibition match.

With the other flanker back, Terry Barr, still a question mark because of a knee injury, the Lions are up against it as they prepare for Friday night's home exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Dr. R. A. Thompson, the team physician, said it would take several days to determine how long Studstill would be out. He suffered an injury to his left knee—possibly torn ligaments—during a pileup in the fourth quarter of the St. Louis game.

The championship-minded Lions open the National Football League campaign against Los Angeles Sept. 14.

Coach George Wilson has not yet learned the seriousness of Brettschneider's injury—a twisted ankle—but he was expected to be back soon.

Wilson said the injuries have added new importance to the trade which brought fullback Ollie Matson to the Lions from Los Angeles. The fleet Matson is an experienced flanker back and might fill in for Studstill.

The Cardinals made the first move Saturday night, taking a 7-0 lead on John David Crow's 10-yard run early in the first quarter. Detroit evened things with a 73-yard drive masterminded by quarterback Earl Morrall, who started in place of the injured Milt Plum. Morrall sneaked over for the tying touchdown on the first play of the second quarter.

Brettschneider helped set up the next Lions' score a few plays later. He recovered a Cardinal lateral that went awry.

Nick Pietrosante plunged over from the one yard line to give Detroit a 13-7 edge. Jim Martin missed the extra point. A few minutes later, the Lions added two points on a safety. They pushed ahead 22-7 when Morrall tossed a 33-yard TD pass in the second period to Jim Gibbons.

St. Louis cut the margin to 22-14 in the third period. Sonny Randall scored on a five yard pass after Dale Meinert had set the stage by returning a pass interception to Detroit's 17.

Jim Bakken's 44-yard field goal in the fourth period ended the scoring.

John McKenna is starting his 11th season as head coach of Virginia Military Institute, the longest football coaching reign in Key-det history.

Big Jimmy Brown Has New Tricks For Grid Foes

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be the dirtiest trick since the invention of the mousetrap.

As every defensive football player knows, the only thing to do when Jimmy Brown has the ball is for five or six or seven of you to rush up and maybe if enough of you get there you can knock him down. Maybe.

But now, when you start clumping up there by platoon fronts, he's throwing the ball. Absolutely unfair.

The 230-pound bull of a fullback for the Cleveland Browns, probably the most feared runner in the National Football League, picked up 68 yards on 13 rushing attempts and ran for two touchdowns in Sunday's 24-7 exhibition rout of the San Francisco 49ers.

That's just a routine sort of performance for the five-time rushing leader. But he also tossed a pass to fleet Ray Renfro that went for 80 yards and another touchdown. He also caught three passes for another 19 yards.

A crowd of 28,335 in San Francisco watched the Browns score their first exhibition victory of the season and 29,815 were on hand in Minneapolis to witness Minnesota's impatient young Vikings score a 17-16 upset of New York Eastern Division champion Giants, the Vikings' third straight triumph.

Oakland exploded for 27 points in the final quarter to complete a 43-16 rout of the New York Jets in the only Sunday American Football League exhibition.

In Saturday's NFL games, rookie Grady Wade kicked a field goal with six seconds left for the difference in Baltimore's 17-14 tri-

Previous Loser Heavy Favorite

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — After failing to win the Hambletonian in 12 previous starts, trainer-driver Ralph Baldwin looks like a sure thing Wednesday with Speedy Scot.

Not since 1945 at Goshen, N.Y., when Titan Hanover, straight-heat winner, was such a strong choice that parimutuel wagering on him was refused or since the reign of Scott Frost in 1955, has there been such an overwhelming favorite as Speedy Scot.

At the belted Du Quoin State Fairgrounds, the Castleton Farm's color-bearer is listed at 2-3 on the unofficial line for the 38th Hambletonian, premier race for 3-year-old trotters.

The 47-year-old Baldwin, from Pompano Beach, Fla., also aims to become the second driver to win trotting's triple crown. Joe O'Brien did it with Scott Frost.

The first leg of the crown, the Yonkers Futurity, was won by Speedy Scot even though he broke stride.

The Kentucky Futurity in Lexington Oct. 4 completes the series.

Speedy Scot, however, didn't scare off too many rivals. Thirteen other trotters were named Sunday for the Hambletonian. With the lineup of 10 colts and 4 fillies, the event will be the sixth richest with a purse of $115,549 and $56,619 to the winner.

Aiding Speedy Scot's chances was the pulling of No. 3 post position in a blind draw.

The rail position in the first tier of 10 starters went to Glidden Hanover, who has the second best winning mile heat of 1:59 4-5. Glidden, driven by Eddie Wheeler, is an unofficial 5-1 choice.

Downing Wants No-Hitter In Every Game He Pitches

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Actually, I try for a no-hitter every game I pitch. That's the way you win, by not letting them hit."

That's Al Downing's pitching philosophy, and the 22-year-old New York Yankee left-hander lives by it religiously. He has flirted with no-hitters, and even perfect games, all season.

Twice Downing had gone to the seventh inning before giving up a hit. Sunday he went to the eighth—an error spoiled a perfect game with two out in the seventh—before Ron Hansen slapped a lead-off single over second base for the first hit.

Downing finished with a two-hit 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a double header. Elston Howard homered twice. White Sox southpaw Gary Peters won the second game, 2-1 in 12 innings, for his 10th straight and second in a row over the Yankees.

The split left the Yanks 11½ games in front in the American League.

Minnesota moved into sole possession of second by whipping the Baltimore Orioles 5-3 in 10 innings. The White Sox are 12 games back, the Orioles 12½.

Cleveland beat the Boston Red Sox 2-1 in 15 innings in the second game, after the Red Sox had won the opener 8-3.

The Detroit Tigers completed the sweep of a five-game series with Kansas City, 11-5 and 4-3. Washington tripped the Los Angeles Angels 4-1.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers clipped the Milwaukee Braves 2-1, and Cincinnati edged the San Francisco Giants 8-7 on Frank Robinson's grand slam. Houston beat St. Louis 3-1. That left the Cards and Giants 6½ games behind the Dodgers. Chicago beat the New York Mets 3-1 and Philadelphia trimmed Pittsburgh 4-2 in 11 innings.

At Yankee Stadium, Downing and Peters, the two young left-handers, were invincible. Downing ran his record to 10-4; Peters to 15-5.

Camilo Pascual won his 17th game with a stout-hearted effort for Minnesota. Pascual pitched out of two bases-loaded spots in the ninth.

Red Sox rookie pitcher Bob Heffner lost a 1-0 lead with two out in the 10th inning when Tito Franco homered for the Indians. Then Franco singled the winning run home in the 15th against Dick Radatz. Bill Monbouquette won his 17th in the opener, as Lu Clinton and Gary Geiger homered for the Red Sox.

Anne Welts Is Amateur Champ

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Third-time champion Mrs. Anne Quast Welts and her victim, teenager Peggy Conley, hadn't planned to enter the 1963 Women's National Amateur Golf Tournament.

But both got plenty of mileage out of their decisions. Mrs. Welts, winning the 36-hole final Saturday 2 and 1 over the high school junior from Spokane, Wash.

A previous winner in 1958 and 1961, Mrs. Welts' decision was made for her by her husband of two months. He is an attorney and she a history teacher at Mt. Vernon, Wash. High School.

Mrs. Welts, 25, was a last-minute entry.

Mrs. Welts had played in only one other tournament, the Western Women's Amateur, since last fall. Miss Conley, 16-year-old chubby, freckle-faced darling of the galleries, tasted her first major tournament when she got to the semifinals of the Western Junior girls event.

She was beaten in the finals of the recent National Girls Tournament and decided to try the National Women's only because Albany, N.Y., is only 34 miles from Williamstown.

Mantle Expected Back For Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Under the New York Yankees' master plan, Mickey Mantle will do little or no playing the rest of the season—but will devote the last five weeks to getting himself into prime condition for the World Series in October.

Manager Ralph Houk said as much in an interview with The Associated Press today concerning Mantle's future.

"I'd like for Mantle to play a little in September," Houk said, "and there is a possibility that he may. However, I am not going to take any chances with that loose cartilage of his."

"It's there and it can pop at any time, just by getting out of the dugout, event."

"Frankly, I am more interested in getting Mickey in shape for the World Series. This is my prime objective, my master plan."

Mantle except for several pinchhit appearances, has been out of the Yankee lineup since June 5, when he broke a bone in his left foot climbing the center field wall in Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

He was hitting .308 at the time.

The foot has healed, but another injury in the form of a loose cartilage in his left knee was discovered in the meantime. This is what has kept the Yankees' siege gun out of the lineup.

"Naturally I'd love to have Mantle in the line-up," said Houk. "But he's simply not ready."

"The foot appears completely healed, and the knee is gradually getting better. But it's slow progress, and there's always a danger that something might happen to set him back."

The loss of Mantle was expected to greatly damage the Yankees' chances of repeating as American League champions. Happily for Houk and his men, it hasn't turned out that way. The Yankees were in first place by a few percentage points but trailed the Orioles by one-half a game when Mickey was sidelined.

Instead of losing ground, the Yankees, in an all-out team effort, have spread-eagled the rest of the field. In 84 games without their No. 1 slugger, the Yankees have won 56 and lost 28, a .667 percentage.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

PITCHING—Al Downing, Yankees, and Gary Peters, White Sox, worked masterfully as their teams split a doubleheader. Downing held the White Sox hitless through seven innings and finished with a two-hitter, striking out 13, in taking opener 4-0. Peters won his 10th straight in 12-inning second game, 2-1, with six-hitter.

BATTING — Tito Franco, Indians, homered for tie with two out in 10th inning, then singled in the winning run in the 15th for 2-1 decision over Boston in second game of doubleheader. The Red Sox won the first game 8-3.

Hope To Lift Men From Mine Tomb Tonight

heard from since last Tuesday night and hasn't had any food since the cave-in Aug. 13, remained uncertain, but three of his brothers said they believe he is alive.

A smaller drilling rig is sending a three-inch lifeline hole toward where Bova, who is separated from Fellin and Throne by a wall of debris, is believed to be—about 25 feet away. Several breakdowns and loss of the bit slowed its progress over the weekend. Three previous attempts have failed.

A six-inch lifeline hole reached Fellin and Throne nine days ago after officials feared them dead, and since then they have been receiving food and other supplies through it. A microphone communications system also has been established, enabling the men to guide rescue workers.

Ream Out Hole

A 297-foot section of the original 12-inch escape hole—which reached Fellin and Throne last Friday after two previous failures—was being reamed out to 18 inches. This is a half-inch wider than decided on Saturday to prevent the capsule, which is almost 15 inches in diameter, from snagging.

Throne and Fellin appeared to be in good spirits and continued to chatter away, boosting the morale of those on the surface with a constant stream of humor.

Sunday night Throne asked that some "fig bars, graham crackers and sour balls (candy)" be sent down. Fellin explained that "we're going to have a party to celebrate our last night."

Fellin asked for some hot peppers and bologna for their dinner Sunday night.

"Boy, oh, boy, how can you take it?" asked Edward Tito, who was operating the microphone connection.

"It'll taste real good," said Fellin.

Tito said he would make arrangements for the meal and then asked who would come up the hole first.

Hank To Be First

"Hank will come up first," replied Fellin. "Are they making any headway now?"

"Yes, they are," replied Tito. "We're moving about 25 feet an hour, Davey."

"Going pretty slow," said Fellin.

"Yes," replied Tito, adding that he figured sometime this morning rescuers "should be real close to you."

"When we get down we'll have to go slow so there won't be any cracking," added Tito.

The giant drilling rig and bit had to cut through 14 layers of the earth's surface as it widened the escape hole. From 289 to 298 feet the layer is soft slate. From this point on, there is 15 to 16 feet of coal and rescuers must be careful to prevent a cave-in although Throne and Fellin have shored up their chamber as best they could.

His daughters Susan, 23, and Janet, 20, paused to kiss him on their way to the altar.

Aqua-Nuts Thrill Crowd In Benefit Show Here Sunday

Escanaba Aqua-Nuts Waterski Club in its first public program Sunday afternoon east of the Municipal Dock, did an excellent job of showing the public what teamwork can accomplish in a few short months.

The club was formed this spring and the show it put on Sunday displayed all the zest and artistry of a professional undertaking.

Featured during the two-hour 20-act water show were human pyramids, skiing backwards, crossovers (where the skiers cross under the towlines from one side of the boat pulling them to the other), skiing on watershoes, slalom, over ramp jumps and riding a step ladder on a round wooden disk, from the top rung of the ladder.

Zest for the sport was shown in the sure-fire manner the youngsters handled themselves. Nothing was left undone and safety measures were of the first concern. The hand-signal system between the skiers and the boat operators made the entire program a smooth continual operation.

The Aqua-Nuts staged the show as a means of raising funds for the Retarded Children's School, a community project, which is being constructed in North Escanaba. A total of $114.81 was collected in Sunday's show. Deducting expenses of about $50 for printing and gasoline, a balance of $64.81 was turned over to the school project.

Tom Gasman of Danforth, club president, credited the cooperation between skiers in the club, they just can't seem to do enough for one another. It's this team work that has made our club a real sound organization," he said.

Gasman said that because of the help they have been given by the local businessmen in furthering their club aims the Aqua-Nuts have made plans to take their show on the road next year. "This way the club will have a chance to establish a name for themselves and at the same time promote Escanaba," said Gasman.

Skiers taking part in the water show Sunday included: Six-year-old Debbie Turner of Wilson, Jim Gasman, Cindy Brock and Sandy Moreau, both of Gladstone, Donnie Ness, Darlene Charon, Bob McDonough, John DesTrampe, Paul Woolforth, Debbie VanEffen, Richard DeGrand, Joe Vogel, Lyle Berro, Marcee Lancour, Judy Jensen, Brian Flath, Meredith VanEfen, Amer Pedersen, Ken Wicklander, Annette Erickson, and Lenny Pilon.

A meeting has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the John Lemmer School. Gasman said this meeting will be an open-membership meeting and anyone wishing to join in the fun is invited to attend. He pointed out that anyone joining will be trained in the sport by members of the club.

Officers of the Aqua-Nuts, in addition to Gasman, include: Jim Gasman, vice-president; Meredith VanEffen, secretary and Darlene Charon, treasurer.

Father Of Jeep Dies At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Karl K. Probst, 79, "father of the Jeep," was found dead at his home here Sunday. He had been ill for several weeks.

Plans for the Jeep, which he drew in 1940 as a consulting engineer for Bantam Car Co. of Butler, Pa., were found at his bedside.

The vehicle that became famous during World War II was designed by Probst in one week. In 1944 Willys-Overland and Ford Motor Co. disputed the vehicle's origins, but a Federal Trade Commission ruling said Probst was the designer.

Up Capabilities Of Disaster Aid

The Michigan Department of Health this week notified Delta County Civil Defense Director Mason E. Johnson that Escanaba will be among the first to receive supplementary medical supplies and equipment for their civil defense emergency hospital.

The supplementary drugs, medicines, bandages, surgical equipment and other expendable medical supplies will extend the operational capabilities of the 200-bed hospital from 72 hours to 30 days.

These hospitals (Escanaba's is stored at the city steam plant) are intended for use in the event of nuclear attack. They may also be used with the approval of the U. P. Public Health Service in case of a serious natural disaster. There are 74 throughout the state.

Similar to the Army Medical Corps field hospitals used during the Korean War, they include x-ray equipment, surgical instruments, operating room equipment, laboratory and pharmacy, an inflatable 1,500-gallon water tank, a 15 kw. generator, sterilization equipment, cots, litters, blankets and miscellaneous hospital supplies.

Mason Johnson said the hospitals are so designed that lay persons, with some prior training, can unpack and set them up in a few hours.

The supply addition, which comes packed in 78 cases, will be made in four shipments, the first was scheduled for arrival this week.

Johnson said that the total cost of all 74 units in the state, when fully stocked, will be nearly $3.5 million. The hospitals are the property of the Federal government, although local units of government provide for storage and maintenance.

Gloria Vanderbilt Divorce Puts Her Spouse In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Movie-television director Sidney Lumet, divorced Saturday by heiress Gloria Vanderbilt Lumet, was taken to a hospital Sunday night suffering from what police called an overdose of pills. Lumet denied it. "All it was," he said, "was seven-ven vodka, a Miltown (tranquilizer) and idiosyncrasy."

Lumet telephoned the Associated Press from St. Vincent's Hospital shortly before he was released today.

Asked about the police report, he said, "It's not true. I don't like it and I'm sorry about it." Police said they found Lumet unconscious in his Greenwich Village apartment after they had been notified by a friend of his, Gaille Jones.

Lumet said he took one tranquilizer on top of five to seven double vodkas to relieve "the aggravation of a nasty four-day fight" involving his movie business.

Lumet and Gloria, both 39, would have been married seven years Tuesday. She previously had been married to Hollywood agent Pat Di Cicco and music conductor Leopold Stokowski. She bore two sons, now 13 and 11, by Stokowski, who lists his age as 76. Lumet previously was married to actress Rita Gam.
